CREATURES THAT TUMBLE UPWARD.

Deep Sea Fish Face a Danger Unknown to Other Living Things.

It is only reasonable to suppose that the ability to sustain an enormous pressure can only be acquired by animals after generations of gradual migrations from shallow waters. Those forms that are brought up by the dredge from the depths of the ocean are usually killed and distorted by the enormous and rapid diminution of pressure in their journey to the surface, and it is extremely probable that shallow water forms would be similarly killed and crushed out of shape were they suddenly plunged into very deep water.

The fish that live at these enormous depths are, in consequence of the enormous pressure, liable to a curious form of accident. If in chasing their prey or for any other reason they rise to a considerable distance above the floor of the ocean, the gases of their swimming bladder become considerably expanded, and their specific gravity very greatly reduced. Up to a certain limit the muscles of their bodies can counteract the tendency to float upward and enable the fish to regain its proper sphere of life at the bottom, but beyond that limit the muscles are not strong enough to drive the body downward, and the fish, becoming more and more distended as it goes, is gradually killed on its long and involuntary journey to the surface of the sea.

The deep-sea fish, then, are exposed to a danger that no other animals in the world are subject to—namely, that of tumbling upward. That such accidents do occasionally occur is evidenced by the fact that some fish, which are now known to be true deep-sea forms, were discovered dead and floating on the surface of the ocean long before our modern investigations were commenced.—Popular Science Monthly.

He Dined on Coke.

It is alleged, in a memoir of the life of Lord Eldon, that when plain John Scott his zeal for knowledge was so great that he abandoned the pursuit of almost every kind of information and never sacrificed a moment from his legal studies beyond what was absolutely necessary for his health.

His brother William (afterward Lord Stowell), with a view of engaging him to meet Dr. Johnson and other men of distinguished literary talent, would sometimes say: "Where do you dine today?"

To this question John's uniform answer was, "I dine on Coke today." William would then demur with a "Nay, but come to my chambers. You'll see the doctor."

Whereupon John argued concerning the doctor, "He can't draw a bill," and so the friendly suit ended.

It is further affirmed, on the best authority, that it was an amusement in the early legal life of John Scott to turn pieces of poetry into the form of legal instruments, and that he actually converted the ballad of "Chevy Chase" into the shape and style of a bill of chancery.—Sala's Journal.

The Judge's Stuttering Story.

Many anecdotes are remembered of the late Judge Thompson of Gloucester. Thompson was a good story teller and had the gift of stuttering, which helps along a story teller wonderfully. Judge Thompson always came up to the Democratic state conventions, which used to be held each year in Worcester, and was always primed with good stories.

On one such occasion, the night before the convention, in the Bay State House, he was one of a group of men in the lobby exchanging the latest stories, when a newcomer to the circle broke in with, "I say, judge, tell that stuttering story you told in the cars coming up." The man was a stranger to the judge up to that time and had only met him for a few minutes in the train from Boston. As the judge never could by any possibility tell a story that was not a "stuttering story," this unpremeditated joke was considered the best thing said that evening.—Worcester (Mass.) Gazette.

Crown of an Irish King.

One of the most highly prized relics in the British museum, that great storeroom of wonders and curiosities, both natural and artificial, is the crown formerly used by the Irish kings in the coronation exercises which made them monarchs of the Emerald Isle. Strictly speaking, there were two of these Irish crowns, the one in question being that used by the MacMurroughs, a family who were anciently kings of Leinster. This regal relic, all that remains of the old Irish monarchy, is a plain gold band, rising to a kind of peak or point in front. It dates back to the middle of the tenth century.—St. Louis Republic.

Why Wolfskins Are Cheap.

The Eskimo of the arctic practice an ingenious method of slaughtering wolves—planting a stake in the ice with a blade of flint fastened to the upper end. About the flint blade they wrap a piece of blubber, which freezes hard. Presently along come some wolves and lick at the blubber until the edge of the flint cut their tongues. Tasting their own blood, they become frantic and attack each other, the fight continuing until the whole pack lies dead. Next day the artful hunter comes along and skins them. That is one reason why wolfskins are so cheap.—Iron Age.

Reaching For Columbus' Laurels.

Captain Gambier, R. N., goes a step further than the assertion that Columbus did not know what he was discovering, and denies him the merit of having discovered at all. The first sight of America, he says in The Fortnightly, was obtained by one Jean Cousin of Dieppe, in 1488, four years before the arrival of Columbus at San Salvador. Cousin actually sailed up the Amazon river, which he called after the native name "Maragnon."

On board his vessel was a man named Pincon, who was tried and punished for insubordination on the return to Dieppe. Being banished from France, this Pincon made his way to Palos, in Spain, and though there is no direct evidence that Columbus sought him out and obtained information as to Cousin's voyage, it is a remarkable fact that one of Columbus' vessels was actually commanded by a man of this name, who was accompanied by two brothers. The principal thing to be said in opposition to Captain Gambier's theory is that France, which assiduously lays claim to every scientific invention and discovery that can be named, has never been known to put forward a pretension to the discovery of America. Perhaps after this she will.—Pall Mall Gazette.

One of Cromwell's Letters.

Among the Welbeck abbey manuscripts is a characteristic letter from Oliver Cromwell to Captain Penn, which is dated July 9, 1653, and reads in part as follows: "It is not a little murmured in this place that the deeds came off from the enemies' coast at this time. Some who neither love you nor us nor this cause are apt to make their own constructions of it, yett I believe you satisfied your judgments in it. Indeed that which I apprehend is that the Dutch commissioners may be a little high upon it, but that I trust will return upon their own heads in the end. I often think of our great losses in your dear General Deane, my most true friend."

"I wish that the honest interest hee carried on may still be maintained amongst you. Doe that, and all will doe well, in that I shall desire to serve you to the uttermost as in all things else. I shall be glad to hear from you how your affairs go. I hope the Lord has brought in to the present parliament many of approved godliness for the generaltye of them, and very few, if any, lyable to just exception. Bee not shy to lett mee know wherein I may expresse my love, for you shall finde mee your very true friend."

When You Gape.

A well bred man puts his hand over his mouth when he yawns, but not one well bred man in 10,000 knows why. The reason is this:

Four or five hundred years ago there was a superstition common in Europe that the devil was always lying in wait to enter a man's body and take possession of him. Satan generally went in by the mouth, but when he had waited a reasonable time and the man did not open his mouth the devil made him yawn, and while his mouth was opened jumped down his throat. So many cases of this kind occurred that the people learned to make the sign of the cross over their mouths whenever they yawned in order to scare away the devil.

The peasantry in Italy and Spain still adhere to this method, but most other people have dispensed with the cross sign and keep out the devil by simply placing the hand before the lips. It is a most remarkable survival of a practice after the significance has perished.—Exchange.

Origin of Salvation Army.

The Salvation Army had its origin in the town of Whitby, in the rough coal mining district of Yorkshire, where General Booth, at that time Rev. William Booth, was doing humble mission work. England was then in arms, expecting to jump into the Russo-Turkish war. It occurred to Booth that he might attract a crowd by issuing a declaration of war himself, so he prepared one forthwith, sprinkled it plentifully with hallucinations and posted 2,000 copies of it about town. The device tickled the British sense of humor, there was a "red-hot, rousing meeting," to quote General Booth, "the penitent fell down in heaps," and the Salvation Army sprang into life full grown.—Journal of Education.

A Good Manager.

Cook (7 a. m.)—Please, ma'am, the dog got hold of the steak that was for breakfast. Shall I go out and get another?

Mistress—Is there any news in the morning paper?

"Yes, indeed, ma'am. Big accidents, and horrid murders, and bomb explosions, and rumors of another war!"

"Very well. Warm over something left from supper and place the paper by my husband's plate."—Toronto Empire.

The Two Faced Month.

The word January is derived from the Latin Januarius, a name given to it by the Romans from Janus, one of their divinities, to whom they attributed two faces because on the one side the first of January looked toward the new year and on the other toward the old.

HORRORS OF MODERN WARFARE.

A German Invention In the Interest of Humanity and Peace.

A young German has perfected an invention which, in behalf of all philanthropists, we hail with undisguised delight.

This is nothing less than an explosive calculated to mitigate the horrors of war and to lend to international conflicts an opera bouffe character, in pleasing contrast to the serious business hitherto connected with that method of settling differences of opinion. Our Teutonic friend's explosive generates a powder, or a gas, or something or other, which will envelop the opposing armies in darkness and throw the soldiers into paroxysms of coughing and sneezing.

It will be seen at once of course, that when two armies are engaged in sneezing their heads off they cannot successfully engage in long range firing. When the coughing spell is on them, a charge is out of the question. Generals and privates would be alike involved in one grand chorus of "hatchoo" and "hatchee," strict attention to which would make it impossible for them to engage in any other serious business. Only one who has ever had a first class cold in the head knows how completely the concomitant sneezing engrosses his attention.

Physicians say there are cases on record of persons sneezing themselves to death, but these are exceedingly rare, and consequently the list of casualties, in the event of the general adoption of the young German's novel warfare, would be reduced to a minimum.

There is, however, an economic consideration involved in this scheme that deserves a passing notice. Every quartermaster would be compelled to equip his armies with an unlimited supply of handkerchiefs, and for their manufacture innumerable looms would have to be started up.

Bring along that sneezing powder! It's a life preserver and will stimulate industrial enterprise.—Washington News.

The Autograph Hunter.

If the preservation of court records intact should hereafter become a matter of importance to litigants, what disappointment and annoyance, not to say injustice, are in store for our posterity! Here and there the mutilation of such documents has been found out, but it may be believed that vastly more of it has not been. For instance, it is doubtful whether a single signature of Abraham Lincoln to a court paper can be found attached thereto. They have been cut out by curiosity hunters without compunction or regard for possible future complications.

I have it from the mouth of an ex-judge, who knew Lincoln, that this is true of several counties. An officer of the present government not long since boasted at an evening party that he had stolen such signatures by connivance with the custodian of the county papers. If similar plunder has been committed in other parts of the country, the records must be in a sorry plight. The descent from autograph stealing to the pilfering of whole papers is easy and suggests an ugly state of affairs.—Nation.

The Power of the Law.

Every criminal is an enemy of society. The aggregation of criminals constitutes a great army at war with society. It costs society—the good people of the country—an immense sum of money to protect themselves against the foe. Under these circumstances it would seem that every law abiding citizen should always act with his own class—extend his sympathies to the good rather than the bad and beware of doing anything to aid, comfort or encourage the enemy. The reason crime is as rampant as it is lies in the fact that crime does not understand how strong law is or might be. That is the lesson that ought to be taught—the overwhelming power of the law. If that were done, the innocent might sleep or walk the highways in peace and safety. Reprieves, pardons, remission of penalties, delays in the operation of law, are favors conferred on the enemy. It should be seriously considered whether society, in the present circumstances, is in a condition to grant any favors.—Kansas City Star.

Cooking by Steam.

Cooking dishes are now made in England in which, in the boiling process, the meat does not come in contact with the water or steam. The edible is contained in a jacket, which in turn is immersed in the outside kettle containing the boiling water. It is claimed that by this the nutritious qualities of meat are preserved, nothing passing off in vapor. There is moisture enough in the meat to prevent it burning, and all the flavor is retained, while, again, the fiber retains a tenderness not found in any other method.—Hardware.

She Knew Him Not.

"Oh, we had the loveliest arrangement at our church society last week. Every woman contributed to the missionary cause $1, which she earned herself by hard work."
"How did you get yours?"
"From my husband."
"I shouldn't call that earning it yourself by hard work."
"You don't know my husband?"—Snap Shots.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

Excitement is running high in Congress. President Cleveland has displeased many influential members of his party who claim that they had a right to expect different treatment for the Bland bill for the coinage of the seigniorage at his hands. It is needless to repeat the angry threats heard on all sides, because such threats are not really factors in future legislation, and that can only come after the excitement has had time to exhaust itself. Nothing is ever accomplished in Congress by going off half-cocked, therefore the longest-headed and most conservative men are laying low and saying nothing.

Senator Puffer is determined that the administration shall issue no more bonds without express authority from Congress, if he can prevent it, and, as the first step towards prevention, he has introduced a resolution directing the Finance Committee to prepare a bill repealing all laws authorizing such issues.

Senator Kyle has published a letter denying a published interview that made him say that he endorsed Coxey's army. He calls Coxey's scheme a silly one that cannot possibly accomplish any good result. The other Populists in Senate and House agree with him and want it distinctly understood that they do not endorse either Coxey or his army and that the Populists as a party have nothing whatever to do with it.

A unique delegation in the shape of forty women mill workers from New England are in Washington for the purpose of protesting against the tariff bill as it now stands. They want a hearing before the Senate Finance Committee, but as that committee denied hearings to all applications before the bill was reported to the Senate it is by no means certain that they will succeed in getting it.

The Nicaragua canal scheme is about to have another inning in Congress. At least that is the expectation of those who favor the bill now being considered by the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations. There are two bills, one by Senator Morgan of Alabama, and the other by Senator Hale of Maine, but inasmuch as they both provide that the United States shall guarantee $100,000,000 of bonds to be issued by the Canal company and only differ as to minor details, they are practically the same. The Senate is in record in favor of the scheme, so that it will not be surprising should the committee favorably report and the Senate again pass one of these bills. It will, however, require some very slick work, to get it in sight of passing the House.

Representative Hatch says his new anti-option bill will certainly pass the House and that he has personal knowledge that five or six Senators who worked against the old bill will support the new one. He thinks the present bill being a revenue measure, and not prohibitory like the old one, adds largely to its chances for becoming a law. Some western Congressmen do not hesitate to say that certain changes made in the tariff bill by the Senate Committee on Finance were made with the deliberate intention of causing the income tax to be dropped from the bill, and that this roundabout way of killing the income tax was resorted to because the committee lacked the nerve to openly drop it, preferring that it be done by vote of the Senate.

The men in the House who knocked out the sliding sugar bounty put by the majority of the House Ways and Means Committee in the original Wilson tariff bill have been putting their heads together for the purpose of devising a scheme that would give the Senate a hint of their opposition to the sugar schedule of the revised tariff bill, and they think they have discovered it. They propose to put an amendment on the regular legislative and executive appropriation bill providing for the repeal of the sugar bounty of the McKinley law, and they express confidence that it will easily pass the House, which has placed itself on record as favoring free sugar and no bounty. The proposed amendment cannot be thrown out on a point of order, as it will be germane to that bill, which carries the appropriation to pay sugar bounties. Another construction put upon this move is that the men behind it are doubtful about the Senate passing the tariff bill and want to make sure of abolishing the sugar bounty. As yet it is only a project.

The House after wasting a week because the Democrats could not muster a quorum of their own to dispose of several contested election cases this week succeeded in getting a quorum and business was resumed. Judging, however, by the past this quorum will not remain long, more shame to the absentees. The Senate Committee on Foreign Relations made quick work of the new Chinese treaty, which was this week favorably reported without amendment. There seems to be no doubt of its ratification.

What is

CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrup, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhoea and Wind Colic, Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

Dr. G. C. O'Connell, Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

Dr. J. F. KINGHOLM, Conway, Ark.

The Centaur Company, 77 Murray Street, New York City.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."

Dr. A. Archer, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

Notice is hereby given to the qualified electors of the City of Sonoma, State of California, that the General Municipal Election in said city will be held at the Pavilion on the

9th Day of April, 1894

The following officers will be voted for:

Three Trustees.

One Treasurer.

One Clerk and Assessor.

One Marshal and Collector.

The polls will be open from sunrise until 5 o'clock p. m.

By order of the Board of Trustees, F. BREITENBACH, City Clerk.

Sonoma, March 8th, 1894.

A Card.

To my friends and the public in general who recently nominated me for City Trustee at the coming election, I will say not to cast any votes for me, as I will not serve if elected for reasons best known to myself. The nomination was made contrary to my expressed wishes. Thanking my friends for their sincere effort to see me in office again I trust they will excuse my refusal, as I have already served ten years as a Trustee of the City of Sonoma.

Opening of New Spring Millinery at G. H. Hotz's, Napa street, Sonoma. Just received all the latest novelties of the millinery art. Mrs. Hotz will wait on the ladies in person every day in the week except Thursdays.

The Santa Rosa Republican is authority for the statement that John Austin, ex-Postmaster of Agua Caliente, near this place, recently fell from a scaffold in a town in South America and sustained injuries which resulted in his death.

Professors Richardson and Hengstler of the State University visited the Sonoma High School one day last week to examine the work being done in Latin and mathematics with a view to accrediting the school. The professors in English, history and science are expected soon and then we shall know something definite about the result.

Two horses attached to the bus which runs between Sonoma and El Verano got a move on last Tuesday, while the driver was inside the Postoffice, and started down Napa street at a lively pace. Being well-regulated nags they kept in the middle of the road until they reached an obstruction which was recently erected across the street to prevent passage over the iron bridge at the foot of that thoroughfare where they came to a standstill. No damage.

My wife was confined to her bed for over two months with a very severe attack of rheumatism. We could get nothing that would afford her any relief, and as a last resort gave Chamberlain's Pain Balm a trial. To our great surprise she began to improve after the first application, and by using it regularly she was soon able to get up and attend to her house work. E. H. Johnson of C. J. In another column will be found a communication signed "Observer." The writer asserts that "the Fire Company have put their Chief and Assistant in the field for Trustees." Being a member of that company we can assure "Observer" that the firemen as a body have nothing whatever to do with their Chief and his Assistant's aspirations in the political field. They are running on their own hook, and the firemen that are supporting them are doing so as individual members of the company.

Don't fail to read the new advertisements on second page of today's paper and keep posted.

COWARDLY.

A True Version of the Assault on Lawyer Rodgers.

J. P. Rodgers of Petaluma, one of the most popular lawyers in Sonoma county, was attacked in a cowardly manner by a man named Elmore in Petaluma on Sunday of last week. The story of the assault as published in the Examiner showed an animus against Mr. Rodgers.

The true version of the affair, however, is given by the Santa Rosa Democrat, as follows: "It seems that when Mr. Rodgers was passing through the billiard-room of the American Hotel on his way to Collins' stable by the rear entrance, Detective Stilwell, so called, John Saunders, and Elmore, Mrs. Fowler's son-in-law, were discussing the Meagher case in one of the card-rooms. Stilwell, it will be remembered, has been engaged by the defense to work up evidence for that side of the case.

"A few minutes later Mr. Rodgers met Stilwell and Elmore on Western avenue near the Arcade saloon. Stilwell accosted John and told him that Elmore said he had been trying to spy on them while they were all in the card-room. John said such was not the case and when Elmore approached he called the latter a liar. Elmore rejoined in kind and struck John in the face. Marshal Collins rushed up at this juncture and stepped in between the two men. Again Elmore made an effort to strike John and succeeded by striking over Marshal Collins' shoulder and landing on the former's eye. The force of the blow caused John to fall back against the wall, and while in that position Stilwell tried to strike him again but was prevented by Mr. Nailer.

"The blow on the cheek near the eye was a serious one, cutting a small vein and causing the blood to spurt forth in fountain jets. At first Mr. Rodgers determined to have no arrests made, thinking that there might be some subtle motive in the attack bearing on the prosecution of Mrs. Bryan and Mrs. Fowler. Elmore will be arrested in a day or two, however, for the purpose of bringing out the true facts in the case and balking any use which might be made of the affair in the coming trial of the Bryan and Fowler women."

City Trustees Meeting.

The City Trustees held their usual monthly meeting last Wednesday evening.

Trustees Trudgen, Seipp and Schocken were present and Trustees Weyl and Litzius were absent. Clerk Breitenbach reported that Geo. W. Sparks, Marshal and Collector, had made a full settlement with the city of all collections during his term of office.

Trustee Schocken introduced ordinance No. 45, fixing the water rates for Sonoma for the next twelve months. It was passed to second reading.

Trustee Seipp introduced the following resolution, which was adopted: Whereas, Edward Gillan on March 17th, 1894, was appointed by this Board to serve as a Judge of the municipal election, and thereafter was nominated as a candidate for the office of City Marshal, and whereas, A. Nufer was on the same day appointed Ballot Clerk, thereafter did remove out of the city limits. Therefore be it

Resolved, That their respective offices be declared vacant and that L. Litzius be and he is hereby appointed Judge of Election in place of said Edward Gillan, and that J. P. Weems be and is hereby appointed Ballot Clerk in place of said A. Nufer.

The bill of A. J. Van Every for $97.20, for constructing a wooden curb on First-street West and the bill of W. H. Switzer for $28 for grading First-street West were laid over for further consideration. The following bills were allowed and ordered paid: G. W. Sparks, salary, $15.50; J. D. Wagon, street work, $15; A. Reimuth, work on Plaza, $5.00; Jno. Revie, hauling, $23.00; L. Breitenbach, work on Plaza and street, $38.65.

Death of a Septuagenarian.

Mrs. Theodore Welschott, for many years a resident of Sonoma, died at her home on Spain street last Thursday of old age, the machinery of life having worn out. The deceased was the widow of Theodore Welschott, who died in this place several years ago. She was a native of County Louth, Ireland, and aged 70 years. The funeral will take place this morning at 9 o'clock from St. Francis' Church. The remains of deceased will be laid beside those of her late husband in Mountain Cemetery.

The Union Hotel is a resort for families visiting Sonoma.

Families visiting Sonoma will find the Sonoma House a first-class hotel in every respect.

THE CITY ELECTION.

What "Observer" Has to Say in Regard to the Contest.

Mr. Editor: The city election is now near at hand and voters will have to select those who shall serve them as Trustees for the next two years.

Messrs. Wegner and Weyl have withdrawn from the contest for reasons best known to themselves, and we may as well permit them to take a rest, since the first-named gentleman has served ten and the other eight years, which is more than some fault-finders have done. We are now confronted by the Fire Company, who have put their Chief and Assistant in the field for Trustees. What does that mean? In my opinion it means that the Fire Company intends to run our town according to their own notions, that is to run it into the ground. They talk about grievances against the Trustees, although the Board has always pampered to their wishes, paying all the poll taxes for the members, whether they reside within the city limits or not. This is gratitude with a vengeance.

Are other Trustees are willing to serve with the firemen? If not, what will become of our corporation? We have done well enough so far; we have made progress, though slow. Shall we now fall back again into the old sleepy way, or shall we go ahead. This election will tell. Let every true citizen who has the welfare of Sonoma at heart vote for BULOTTI, KNIGHT and TRUDGEN for Trustees.

OBSERVER.

THE EPISCOPALIANS.

A Communication from the Rev. Mr. Moreton.

ED. INDEX-TRIBUNE, SIR:

I noticed with much pleasure "Episcopalian's" letter in the last week's issue of your paper and I hope it may be the means of calling forth the opinions of residents in the valley on the subject in hand. Kindly allow me, meanwhile, to advert to one or two of the points touched upon by him in that letter. His information as to my having obtained the Bishop's license to officiate in this district is correct. When I had my interview with Bishop Wingfield he told me he had long wanted to work up the district, but had not been able to find a man for the purpose. When I offered my services he at once accepted them and the license duly arrived on Monday last.

As to the site, he told me that he had carefully considered the matter and thought the site offered by Mr. Cadly at Agua Caliente was most suitable, bearing in mind the wide extent of the district assigned for work.

As to the stipend for the clergyman, may I make one suggestion? A friend of mine, a clergyman, told me of a plan he had adopted and which he found worked satisfactorily in all respects. It is that known as the "envelope system." Each member of the congregation is asked to promise a regular contribution of so much a week. The amount is not known to me, but only to a Treasurer duly appointed for the purpose. Each contributor is known by a special number which is printed on the envelopes, and a certain number of these, one for each week, or one for each month, as the case may be, is given to the different contributors. It is the duty of the Treasurer to collect these envelopes regularly and duly enter the amount in a book kept by him for that purpose. I hope very soon to be able to call together as many as possible of those interested in the welfare of the church, and from amongst them, to appoint a church committee to work systematically and carry the thing through successfully.

During the past week I have had the promise of an organ from one gentleman and one dollar a month right through, and from another gentleman the promise of $100 as soon as building operations commence.

May I announce through your columns that there will be services every Sunday henceforth at 11 A. M., at Agua Caliente in the Flowery District School, which has been kindly placed at my disposal for that purpose by the Trustees? I am Respectfully Yours, TUDOR P. MORETON.

Persons who are subject to attacks of bilious colic can almost invariably tell, by their feelings, when to expect an attack. If Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is taken as soon as these symptoms appear, they can ward off the disease. Such persons should always keep the Remedy at hand, ready for immediate use when needed. Two or three doses of it at the right time will save them much suffering. For sale by all dealers.

Items of a personal and social nature are thankfully received at this office and will be edited by Marjorie Dow.

Press, Smith visited Napa last Wednesday. In millinery everything tends to the low and wide.

John Hendley of Glen Ellen was in town on business last Thursday. Miss Susie Shaw made a pleasant visit to the metropolis last Saturday and Sunday.

Herman Poppe, the well-known cigar man, was in town one day this week on business.

Mr. Empanan will start for Lower California on a business visit in a few weeks.

Miss Natalie Haraszthy went to San Francisco last Sunday afternoon to visit relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis of Sacramento have been visiting relatives in this valley the past two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. P. Sears have returned to San Francisco after an absence of several months in California, Canada.

Oliver W. Brown, Jr., returned last Wednesday evening from a several days sojourn in the metropolis and other places.

Miss Annie Walthers returned to her home in Stockton last Tuesday after a pleasant visit of several days with friends in this place.

Mr. and Mrs. Agoston Haraszthy of San Francisco spent last Sunday at the home of their mother Mrs. A. F. Haraszthy of "Willows Wild."

Henry Weyl Sr. has entirely recovered from a severe attack of rheumatism and was able to make a business trip to the metropolis last Monday.

H. W. Mathews, an old resident of Sonoma, is employed on the Muser farm south of town. He reports his family as being well pleased with their new home in Santa Rosa.

A secret oath-bound organization known as the "No Sir Club," is spreading among the young women of Colfax, Wash. It is aimed at the see-you-home practice of stingy gallants.

H. C. Manuel and wife took Wednesday morning's train for San Francisco. Mrs. Manuel has been confined to her home for the past eight months by a severe illness and she hopes that the change of climate will be the means of making her a well woman.

A new trimming for hats consists of the wings of birds outspread and ruffled up the wrong way. It is usually placed on either side of a rosette or velvet bow right in the center of the hat or bonnet. These wings are extremely pretty.

On the 18th of May a grand ball and supper will be given at the Agua Caliente Hotel by the Trustees of the school of that district for the purpose of enlarging their school building, which is now very much crowded, and the want of more room has become a necessity.

Many people have strange ideas about wearing mourning. When crape is worn there should not be a suspicion of any trimming about the dress, except folds of the same material or crape. To use cut jet is atrocious, and even dull jet is in bad taste.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Young, accompanied by their daughter Miss Maude, will leave Sonoma next week for an extended camping trip through the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys. The outing is made for the purpose of improving the health of Mr. Young, who has been a sufferer from rheumatism the past winter. Their many friends in this valley wish them a pleasant journey and a safe return.

The party given by the Ten Pin Social Club at Union Hall on Friday evening of last week was well attended by the young people of Sonoma Valley, who greatly enjoyed the dance. Gerardi of San Francisco furnished the music for the occasion and mine host A. A. Enke of the Union Hotel served refreshments in the large dining room. Dancing continued until an early hour in the morning.

Flaring skirts, slightly trimmed, elaborate waists with basques, both long and short, are shown by the Eastern importers.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Haubert came up last Saturday from their home in San Francisco for a short sojourn on their farm near this place.

Don't talk of a child's peculiarities before it; never let it hear its beauty or ugliness spoken of. The greatest charm of childhood is its forgetfulness of itself.

Mr. and Mrs. Sheafe and their daughter Miss Annie returned to their home in Truckee last Tuesday after a few days sojourn with friends in this place.

The Easter offering in the Alameda Congregational Church was to pay off a debt on the property of $2,000. The offering covered the debt with over $100 to spare.

Notwithstanding the popularity of the basque bodice and the pointed corsage with applied trimmings at the lower edge, the round waist in every varying form, will remain in favor.

Common salt, not the fine, easily melted table article, but the coarse kind used by butchers and ice-cream makers, is a splendid tonic for the skin and muscles. It is recommended by physicians for children who have delicate or partially paralyzed limbs, or any bodily weakness. Thrown in the bath and gently rubbed on the body, it is absorbed and aids circulation while strengthening the muscles.

In the personal column of yesterday's Examiner a notice appeared to the effect that if any of the family of Martin M. Nathanson, formerly of Sonoma, would communicate with Marcus J. Netter of 304 Battery street, San Francisco, they would hear something to their advantage. The Nathanson's referred to are well-known to many of our residents, as several years ago they owned a fine mountain ranch a few miles north of town where they resided.

On Tuesday evening, April 17th, at Union Hall there will be presented the most laughable farce ever seen in Sonoma, entitled "Poppleton's Predicaments." The characters are to be presented by our best local talent. If you want to have a good laugh be sure and attend. Also for the first time in public the Ladies' Choral Society will appear, which alone will be worth the price of admission. There will be a number of vocal and instrumental solos, after which refreshments will be served in the hall. The price of admission is placed at the low sum of 25 cents, which will enable all to attend. The proceeds will be donated to the Methodist Church. See program on second page.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury.

Mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescription from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system.
